Report of the Public Service Commission, First District of the State of New York, 1909, vol. ii, pp. 104-105. 4 See Documents Public Service Commission, 1913, vol. v, p. 1195. trip for every car crossing the Queensboro bridge, the tracks thereon being owned by the city; also four per cent on the cost of the terminal facilities at either end of the bridge furnished by the city, and a graduated rental aggregating sixty-two thousand five hundred dollars for the use of the viaduct over the railroad yards at the eastern approach to the bridge. The company was further required to contract away the right which it enjoyed under the franchise-tax law to subtract these payments, made to the city, from the amount of its franchise taxes. The inclusion of this requirement was not peculiar to this contract. When the special franchise-tax law was enacted by the state legislature in 1899 provision was made that any percentages of gross earnings or other income or license fee of any amount paid to the city in the nature of a tax might be deducted from the franchise taxes collected,<sup>1</sup> with the idea of equalizing the tax burden. It, therefore, in effect permitted those companies...
